Employment

Commis chef at the Rosewood hotel (WC1V 7EN)
October 2019 – February 2020

I was working as a full-time chef in a Michelin star hotel as part of a team to serve others. Which involved, carrying out instructed tasks, filling out hygiene and temperature reports, preparing food during service time, earning certificates to advance my skills and most importantly learning how to remain calm when working under pressure, staying focused and helping others simultaneously when needed.

Self-employment- A touch of Yulianna

2019-Present

Running my own business has helped me with

- Meeting deadlines to satisfy customer needs which enhanced my organisational and time management skills
- Creating recipes for desserts
- Using excel for pricing and spreadsheet work
- Creating content to upload on my business social media platforms. Through this I paid close attention to details to give my customers the best goods and services
- Packaging, delivering and selling dessert

John Lewis and partner Foodhall assistant

November 2021-Present

My roles and achievements are

- Stock assistant (stock checking, off sales and reductions)
- Wine bar trained (serving customers, preparing platters and drinks, while managing the bar)
- Florist (setting up and closing the florist, serving customers and making bouquets)
- Patisserie (setting up and closing patisserie, ordering & serving customers)
- MIBBS (made in branch baguettes) preparing and making sandwiches to be sold in our Waitrose Foodhall
- Checkout and self service trained

Working in the Foodhall has allowed me to demonstrate and develop multi skills as an individual and a member of a team in various departments. This makes me flexible to help in any area of service needed.

OTHER ACHIEVEMENTS / FURTHER INFORMATION

Love circular UX Bootcamp course design course

Present

This course has helped me get an insight into tech and wanting to know more about the tech industry. I've developed a wide understanding of the importance of front-end and back-end roles in tech, in my assignments I've learnt how to Figma, Figjam and carry out user research methods. This has helped me take users' needs into consideration while designing this includes accessibility needs. While completing this course I realised I want to learn more behind the background of developing apps to meet these needs. I have developed key fundamentals in presentational skills to show others what it is I am trying to improve with my designs and how it can help customers.

Duke of Edinburgh

2017- 2018

It involved the completion of a volunteering, skill and physical activity section. Where I used my own initiative to create healthy alternative recipes for desserts and meals, training programs that varied in different activities and using resources available such as a park in the mornings. This allowed me to out of my comfort zone and find solutions in any problem.

VOLUNTEERING

Mentor- Keen London: Coached children with learning disabilities, autism, epilepsy and other difficulties. This experience taught me how to adjust to other needs to help children understand me better.

Kids and Creche Ministry- Reality Church: My role is to help with children during any church event and teaching them new skills from a young age, guiding children when they have concerns. From this I've learnt to develop an open mind, empathise and experience compassion for everyone. My roles here provided me with leadership, management and organisational skills.

Overall, my volunteering roles have helped manage my time efficiently to also be able to have leisure time to do things I enjoy while also being able to focus on studying and working at the same time. Supporting younger generations and teaching them how to be independent has become something delight in. Patience has become my virtue through volunteering.

HOBBIES AND INTERESTS

- Gym and other forms of fitness
- Reading self-help books and listening to audiobooks
- Watching podcast on how to improve and become a better version of yourself daily
- Redesigning websites on Figma to improve them
